WestCare Kentucky – Hal Rogers Appalachian Recovery Center Men’s Residential Program

Purpose

WestCare Kentucky’s Men’s Residential Program provides intensive alcohol and other drug abuse treatment services for adult males residing at the WestCare Kentucky Hal Rogers Appalachian Recovery Center. Men’s Long-Term Residential services are provided in a male-only facility, and the clinical curriculum is designed to better serve the needs of men. The Men’s Long-Term Residential Program allows for a stay in treatment a minimum of 90 days. We are also licensed for providing DUI assessments, education and treatment.

Services and Scope

This 88 bed program services include specialized alcohol and drug curricula for adult male participants in a modified therapeutic community model of care. Services in the Men’s Residential Program include: individual and group counseling; vocational skills development activities, including emphasis on technical skills; alcohol and drug education classes; relapse prevention; introduction to community-based support services; optional weekly onsite chapel services and community-based 12-Step meetings; family and significant other educational/support services; and HIV/AIDS education, parenting classes, and counseling. The focus and intensity of treatment is modified to accommodate the realistic/practical treatment needs of males as they begin admitting and embracing their own need for continuing recovery. The process of treatment in this program is one of discovery and sets a firm foundation to allow men to empower themselves and become responsible for their own recovery.

Funding Source(s)

WestCare Kentucky’s Men’s Residential Program is partially funded by Operation UNITE, Kentucky Department of Corrections, United States District Court Federal Probation, self pay and Insurance. Assessment of a participant’s ability to pay for a portion, or all, of the cost of treatment is determined on a case-by-case basis. Service is never refused due to a participant’s inability to pay; however, some programs may have waiting lists.
